The Fair & Impartial Policing (FIP) Government-Wide Implicit Bias Awareness Training is a 4-hour program that applies the modern science of bias to decision-making; it educates training participants on the effect of implicit bias on their perceptions and gives them the skills they need to reduce and manage their biases.

The FIP Training Program for Government-Wide personnel includes the following learning objectives:

➢ Even well-intentioned people have biases

➢ Implicit biases impact on what we perceive and see

➢ Unless prevented, implicit biases can impact on what we do

➢ Recognizing both conscious and implicit biases

➢ Implementing controlled, unbiased behavioral responses

FIP National Instructors represent local, county, state, and university police, and bring practical, "street-wise" applications for government personnel at all levels.
